Mollie Mae Smiley was born on January 9, 1917 in Arcadia, Oklahoma to Johnnie Morris and Lillie Hardiman.

She graduated from Arcadia High School in 1935. After high school, she married Albert Smiley where they raised two sons, Albert Lawrence and Francis Ray.

She retired from Southwestern Bell after 31 years of service.

On December 29, 2013, Mollie received her wings to greet her Heavenly Father and rejoin her loved ones. She was preceded in death by her husband/soulmate, Albert; and oldest son, Lawrence.

She is survived by her son, Ray and his wife Tanya; Ojarita, the wife of Lawrence; and seven grandchildren: Kimberly Turner (Ron); Enetrice, Jeffrey (Rhonda), Randall, Patrick, Alesha Nolan (Robert Jr. II), and Akim (Heather); five great grandchildren: Jeffrey Jr., Lauren, Tannessa, Ashlynnne and Isabella; one step grandson, Braden; and a host of other relatives and friends.

“Polly”, as she was endearingly known as, lived a long, great life and was loved and respected by everyone she came in contact with. Those that were fortunate enough to have known her would say that she treated everyone as if they were family.
