Obituary

Gladys Mae Hardimon was born on March 23, 1936 to Gladys and Johnnie Walker in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Johnnie and Gladys Walker; two sisters, Betty Joe Hicks and Margaret Ann Byrd; one brother, John L. Walker; and one step-daughter, Ramona Johnson.

Gladys graduated from Douglass High School in 1954. After high school, she pursued cosmetology and married Milton Washington, Jr. To this union, four children were born: Sharon Nelson, Milton Washington III, Robin Lewis, and Keith Washington (deceased).

In 1964, she married Bob Harris, Sr. To this union, one child was born, Bob Harris, Jr. (deceased).

On July 11, 1980, she married Riley Hardimon, Jr. He preceded her in death on March 15, 2000. To this union, two children were born, Cornell Hardimon and Donell Hardimon.

Gladys joined Allen Chapel AME Church at an early age, where she accepted Christ. In 1980, she later joined Central Baptist Church of Oklahoma City, where she served as trustee, president of the usher board, and many other roles. She was a faithful member until her death.

Gladys was employed with Doctor General Hospital for many years, as a supply technician until she retired. Later, she worked as a foster grandparent for the Oklahoma City Public School District, until she retired.

Gladys Mae Hardimon leaves her children to cherish her memory: Sharon Nelson, Milton Washington III (Glory), Robin Lewis (Zachary), Cornell Hardimon, and Donell Hardimon (Larita); one step-daughter, Onedia Dean; and a host of grandchildren, great-grandchildren, relatives and friends.
