Obituary

THROWBACK THROWBACK THROWBACK

Virgil Savage Jr. was born October 30, 1955 to Virgil and Inez Savage Sr. in Tulsa, Oklahoma. His early life was shared with his parents, two sisters, and one brother. His parents and his brother Curtis Howard preceded him in death. Junior, as he was affectionately called by his mother was a curious and adventurous young man. He had a love for all sports, and he excelled at basketball.

ALWAYS SEEKING WISDOM

Virgil endeavored in sports, however his true loves were knowledge and wisdom. His high school education began at McClain High School in Tulsa Oklahoma. He completed his high school education and received his diploma in 1974 from George Washington High School in Denver Colorado. He continued his education at the University of Northern Colorado where he received a Bachelor of Science degree in Management in 1979. He put his degree to work the restaurant industry and became a manager trainee for McDonald's in 1981. He went on to become a successful owner-operator of 3 McDonald's locations in Oklahoma City.

EACH ONE TEACH ONE

It should be no surprise, with all of his formal education and life lessons, that he always took the opportunity to share his knowledge and wisdom. He could often be found sharing stories and information with family, friends, and employees. He was the biological father of four, but many knew him as Dad because he embodied everything that a Dad should be. He leaves to continue his legacy, one son and daughter in law, Virgil and Tori Savage III of Tulsa. Three daughters, Brittney Hill of Plano, Virshana Savage, and Brittany Savage both of Oklahoma City. One grandson Damar Martinez. Two sisters, Stella Savage, and Lula Mae Green, and a host of uncles, aunties, cousins, and friends.

DID YOU KNOW?

Virgil earned the nickname Tweety by running to score a touchdown in the wrong end-zone during a football game

Virgil graduated from high school in Colorado because his Aunt Topsy brought him back with her after a visit to Tulsa. She was considered a second mother to him after helping raise him.

Virgil received a degree in Hamburgerology from McDonald's after successfully completing Hamburger University.
