A FAMILY TRIBUTE

To Our Angel Norma

Today we celebrate the life of a truly extraordinary person – sister, mother, grandmother, aunt, cousin, friend ... We remember your Divine qualities that transformed your concerns into trust, your fears into faith, your worries into prayers, with courage and grace as you faced your recent physical challenges.

Before you entered this world in 1950 your sisters selected your name NORMA which means – deep thinker, idealistic, and studious. A person with an excellent brain, hard worker, willing to try new things, loves their privacy, captivating, beautiful, and who enjoys their own company. You wowed as you modeled each one of these characteristics throughout your life. There were several more traits that you added such as your sensitive, patient, caring, and kind spirit and the joy you found in helping and serving others including your family, girl scouts, and friends.

We thank God for the gift of your prayers, and your "I Love You" each time we talked with you. We are blessed by the courage and confidence you modeled during your illness. And You blessed us in so many ways with your charm and humor.

Adjusting to life without your physical presence is going to be difficult, lonely, and challenging. Thank you for leaving us an example of how to face difficult times with unwavering faith, courage, and resilience.

We are confident in the knowledge that you are resting with our Lord and Savior and all the other saints that proceeded you. The depth of our love cannot be measured and the many sabbath moments we cannot count but we will always remember your enduring love.

Acknowledgments

We appreciate deeply your kind expression of sympathy in our time of great sorrow. Thank you for keeping us in your thoughts and prayers.

Delores Scott

Norma Delores Scott was born on April 6, 1950 to Saul and Malinda Bunn, in Oklahoma City, OK. She was the youngest of three beautiful daughters. She was later adopted by her stepfather Warren Hudspeth. Norma accepted Christ at an early age and was baptized at Fairview Baptist Church.

Norma's early education was obtained in Oklahoma City, where she attended Dunbar Elementary and F.D. Moon Middle School. She was among the first class to integrate Northeast High School and graduated in 1968 with honors. At Northeast, in addition to excelling academically, Norma was very involved in extracurricular activities. She was the first African American Basketball Queen, a member of the National Honor Society, Girls State, and a Courtesy Club School Ambassador. She was also very involved in her community, participating in the NAACP and political activism. Upon graduation, she attended Oklahoma State University majoring in Business Administration. In 1969, she was chosen as a Debutante for the Nu Vista Club of Oklahoma City.

Norma was united in marriage to Willie Stevenson in 1970, and from this union produced one cherished daughter, Nicole.

Norma was a renaissance woman who was blessed to enjoy a variety of career pathways. Creative and resourceful, she was a producer for a public access television show and a local radio station. She also worked in finance for General Motors. She moved to Dallas, Texas in 1985, to work for the Federal Reserve Bank. Finally, ending her career at the North Tejas Girl Scouts Council in Plano, Texas, where she worked for 18 years and retired in 2018. Norma was a kind, gentle and loving person who cared deeply for others. She was thoughtful and knew how to make others feel special. She adored music of all genres, gardening, her beloved Dallas Cowboys and OU Sooners, WWE Smackdown, the perfect red lipstick and all things glamorous. Norma enjoyed spending time with her loving companion Ron Williams. Like two halves of the same coin, Ron and Norma had a wonderful relationship steeped in friendship and love. Most of all Norma adored her family, especially her daughter and grandchildren. Chandler (her Angel), Christian (her Little Professor) and Chase (Baby Chase) were her pride and joy.

Norma was preceded in death by her Mother, Malinda Hudspeth and her Sister Mildred Brewer.

To My Mom

There's an arrogance in youth that allows you to think "I'm going to do everything differently than my parents". You assume you've watched their mistakes and are the "faster, better version of them".

Growing older I find myself wanting to do many of the same things you did. How I suddenly love big jewelry and animal prints!

Like you, I want to be kind, when life isn't always kind to me. I want to be generous, seeing the needs of others. I want to celebrate every holiday, big or small. I want to be the softest place to land, when my children are facing triumphs or obstacles. More than anything, I want you to be here and not just in my heart. I will miss you forever, and I thank you for the lessons. In the words of your favorite singer Tina Turner, "You're Simply the Best".

Love Always,

Nicole

What is a Sister?

A Sister is someone who's been where you've been, who knows you and what you're about.

Someone you know you can call if you need to when something's just not working out.

A Sister is someone who's more than just family, her friendship is one of a kind.

And the closeness you've shared through life's laughter and tears is the deepest that you'll ever find.
