

You can know all the scriptures,
have all the Bibles you can reach.

But when push comes to shove,
do you practice what you preach?

Anyone can go to church and collapse on the floor,
but when judgment day comes,
will you be at Heaven's door?

You can have the biggest of fits and say the Holy Ghost passed through,
but is that really reflected in the things you do?

You can yell far and wide proclaiming your love for Christ,
but what have you given Him,
when for you He gave His life?

You can lecture others about the wrong things they do,
but before you look at others,
you need to look at you.

You can condemn all sinners, tell them they're headed south,
but what have you done lately besides run your mouth?

Obituary

Wesley Oliver was born November 21, 1951, in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, to Pheaton and Emma Oliver. Wesley was born with a fraternal twin named Leslie, making them the second set of twins to be born into this family.

Wesley and Leslie were inseparable growing up, they even bought their first car together. Wesley accepted Christ at an early age and was a member of Allen Chapel A.M.E. Church.

He graduated from Northeast High School in 1969. Wesley retired, after several years, from working in the oil fields. His current occupation was with Goodwill.

Wesley was an avid sports fan. He loved watching collegiate and pro football. His “Big Dawgs” were the Dallas Cowboys, and his “Lil’ Dawgs” were the Oklahoma Sooners. Wesley enjoyed watching the games with his nephews at his twin sisters’ home. Wesley had a special bond with Leslie’s son Latrell. Wesley was a loving son, brother, uncle and cousin.

Preceding him in death were his parents, Pheaton and Emma Oliver; his first wife Theresa; his second wife Shari; his twin brother Leslie; his little brother Horace John Oliver; his older sister Loretta Coker; and his baby sister Nettie Sue Oliver.

Wesley leaves to cherish his memory, three sisters: Geraldine Stell (Norman); Pauline Nelson and Loma Faye Miller; seven nephews; two nieces; nine great nephews; five great nieces; and a host of cousins, other relatives and friends.
